Bus Boycott By Negroes To Be Continued

Convicted Alabama Pastor Says He Will Press His Campaign

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A convicted leader in the Negro boycott of city buses here has pledged to continue the fight against segregation "no matter how many times" he is convicted of violating Alabama's antiboycott law.

The Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. was convicted yesterday of violating the boycott law and was fined $500 by Judge Eugene Carter.

Later, the 27-year-old Baptist pastor vowed at a mass meeting to continue fighting for "justice and equality" and to keep on in a leading role in the protest movement.

King has been prominent in the 17-week-old campaign against segregated seating on city buses.

Negroes here generally were expected to prolong their mass protest despite King's conviction.

The fine assessed against King was suspended after defense attorneys served notice of an appeal. The attorneys said they would take the appeal all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary in another test of the South's segregation laws.

KING, PASTOR of the Dexter Avenue Baptist church, told his Negro audience last night that "freedom doesn't come on a silver platter." He added: "Some of the things we have to go through are a necessary part of our campaign. There can never be growth without growing pains."

He was given an ovation. In addition to the $500 fine which was suspended, King was also charged with court costs of approximately $500. This was converted into a jail sentence totaling about 386 days since he chose to appeal rather than pay the money.

King, together with 89 other Negro leaders still awaiting trial on similar boycott charges, had exercised his right to a nonjury trial.

The conviction was announced by Carter at the end of a four-day trial. Prosecutor William F. Thetford said the state had agreed to postpone the trials of other defendants pending King's appeal.

The state sought to show that the Montgomery Improvement Assn., a newly formed Negro organization, had kept the boycott alive with periodic mass rallies and had directed the operation of a car pool which transported Negroes in lieu of buses. King is president of the MIA.

Negro defense attorneys challenged the constitutionality of the state law which prohibits a conspiracy or agreement to hinder operations of a business "without just cause or legal excuse."

By presenting witnesses who testified that Negroes were mistreated by bus drivers, the defense also tried to prove that a "just cause" existed for the boycott which has dealt a financial blow to the bus company since last Dec. 5.

King testified he had never urged Negroes to refrain from riding the buses.

Argentina Honors Anti-Peron Leaders

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina prepared highest military rites today for the funeral of Maj. Gen. Eduardo Lonardi, anti-Peron leader who was ousted after serving less than two months as the dictator's successor.

Lonardi, 59, died last night after a cerebral hemorrhage in Buenos Aires' central military hospital. He had been in ill health since his ouster and was treated in the U. S. last December for high blood pressure.

CORA SUE ALEXANDER, Pickaway County's Easter Seal child, reminds residents that the Easter Seal drive is in high gear. She is shown with Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff, chairman of the fund raising campaign, who is helping "Susie" to be released from the imprisonment of her braces.

Cora Sue Alexander, 10, Named As Easter Seal Child For 1956

Most people take it for granted that in walking they put first one foot down and then the other, but learning these simple motions was a major project for Cora Sue Alexander, age 10.

"Susie", as she is called by all her friends, has been named Easter Seal Child for 1956 by the Pickaway County Easter Seal Society.

She walks today with the aid of leg braces and canes. But her freedom to walk without further assistance has not been easily achieved. Like many other local children, she was "imprisoned" by a severe crippling condition until.

The annual Easter Lily Parade will be in full bloom Saturday throughout Pickaway County. Volunteer workers will have tiny Easter lily emblems for which donations will be accepted.

Meanwhile, the Rev. Fred Ketter, president of the Pickaway County Crippled Children's Society, announced today that $1,142.10 has already been collected in the first 12 days of the current campaign.

through the aid of the Easter Seal Society, she was taught to use her crippled legs.

Susie is shown in the photograph adjoining with Sheriff Charles Radcliff, chairman of the Pickaway County Easter Seal campaign. Seeing her walking out of an open prison door is symbolic of her release from the "imprisonment" of being unable to walk at all. The story of "Susie's" release from her "imprisonment" is an inspiring story of faith, courage and effective treatment.

IT WAS FIRST discovered that "Susie" was crippled when she was six months old. Her affliction was diagnosed as a "spastic" type of cerebral palsy with "scissors gait."

Her treatment began at the Crippled Children's Society Treat-

Egypt Said Key To Mid East Peace

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Israeli Army officer says Egypt is the "key to peace and the key to war" in the Middle East.

Brig. Gen. Yigal Allon said that war will break out as soon as Egypt can assimilate the arms it has received from Communists Czechoslovakia unless some fundamental changes occur in the power lineup between the Arab States and Israel.

Gen. Allon, who also is a member of the Israeli Parliament, is in Cleveland to speak Sunday at an Ohio Zone conference for the United Jewish Appeal.

Large Turnout For Chamber Dinner Likely

Delaware Manager To Tell Of Parking Plans In His City

Matters vitally linked with the progress of Circleville will be discussed next week when members of city council are guests of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting. A large attendance is expected.

The meeting, to be held in the Mecca Restaurant next Tuesday evening, will start at 6:30 p. m. Delaware City Manager Mott will be the main speaker. His chief topic will be off-street parking, but it appeared likely the discussions will also cover advantages of the city manager plan, shopping center questions, and similar subjects.

The city of Delaware has already spent $75,000 to develop off-street parking, with good results. Circleville's Chamber is currently leading a move to establish an off-street parking area along W. Franklin St.

Spokesmen for the Chamber have stressed the importance of the meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening. All business men and other interested parties are urged to attend.

IT WAS emphasized, however, that reservations must be made by phone or in person no later than Monday. Those planning to attend should get in touch with Chamber Secretary Darrell Hatfield at the Chamber's new telephone number—478.

Council President Ben Gordon extended the invitation to the lawmakers at their regular meeting last Tuesday night. Most of them plan to attend.

'Catching A Duck' Results In Wet Boy

DENVER (AP)—Three-year-old Mark Wedbee was rescued from the cold waters of Rocky Mountain Lake in north Denver yesterday by a young housewife.

Mark took a high dive off a 4-foot retaining wall to "catch a duck" in the water. He was pulled to safety—duckless—a moment later by Mrs. Richard Simmons, 27, who was walking near the lake.

Rotarians Give Green Light For Work On Playground

Warm Weather To Permit Grading Of Area; Cost Of Complete Project Estimated At $600

Plans for the long-awaited Southend playground are gaining momentum, and hopes are high that the area will be ready for use by baseball season.

At its Thursday noon meeting, the Circleville Rotary Club unanimously approved a resolution to get the 2.4 acres of ground (on S. Washington St. just south of the railroad tracks) graded as soon as the warm weather arrives and dries the ground.

The grading work has been placed in charge of Clarence Wardell, a supervisor of the C. F. Replogle company. Cost of leveling the ground has been set at approximately $100.

To build a baseball diamond with backstop, mound and bases, a basketball court with two baskets, and to build a fence around the area, will cost an estimated $500.

ROTARIANS voted to finance the entire project, and once the area has been set up satisfactorily, other organizations will be invited to contribute for equipment and maintenance.

Rotary members have set a top priority on the construction of a wire fence around the playground in order to protect children. It was felt that a fence was essential first of all to prevent children from chasing balls in the street without looking.

Planning for the actual layout of the recreation site is in charge of Ray Friend. He is to get a suitable plan worked out for setting up the various facilities so that maximum use can be made of the land.

Erv Leist, Rotary president, declared the organization does not want to rush headlong into building the playground and come up with a hodge-podge setup.

Declared Leist: "If we are to build a playground, we may as well do it right and not a half-hearted job."

Among minor snags facing the Rotarians are the remnants of an old water tower. It was due to the presence of the water tower that city council five years ago refused to sign an agreement for lease of the area from Mr. and Mrs. John Eshelman, owners of the ground.

THE TOWER itself was burned several years ago but the old supports remain. Leist said nothing can be done about the supports until the Eshelmans can be contacted on the matter. They are now vacationing in Florida.

The current Southend project will be an answer to years of waiting by residents in that part of the city. An all-out effort for a playground was made by the Circleville Chamber of Commerce in 1951, but city council refused to sign the lease.

Council's refusal was due to the existence of the tower, which council members felt could be a hazard to children using the playground. The lawmakers feared suits arising from injuries.

The city lawmaking group, prodded by the Rotary Club, last month signed the same lease that was offered in 1951.

Terms of the agreement call for a token payment of $1 a year to the Eshelmans by the city, and that the contract can be broken by either party with 30 days notice. If the Eshelmans terminate the agreement within two years, they agree to reimburse, in part, for the cost of building the area.

However, the city already has indicated that, now that the lease has been signed, the entire matter

British Given Double Soviet Shock: Red Police Chief And His Jet Airliner

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union gave the British a double jolt yesterday. One was a short, squat man and the second was the sleek airliner in which the man arrived.

The man was Gen. Ivan A. Serov, the Soviet's chief of police. The British press gave him no honor, derided his arrival in statements of outrage that may have surpassed the vituperation heaped on Hitler, Himmler and Goebbels during the dark days of World War II.

But General Serov's commercial twin-engine jet aircraft left British air experts goggle-eyed with wonder.

"You may whistle," bannered the Daily Mail. "This clinches it. The Reds are way, way ahead" in jet airliner production.

"Soviet jet beats all," said the Daily Express.

"Russia's secret plane is a world beater," headlined the News Chronicle.

The Daily Mail's writer on air affairs spoke of the "shaken silence" with which British experts watched the liner fly in.

The airliner, called the TU104, is "more advanced than anything likely to be available in Britain or America for at least three years," he summed up.

The News Chronicle said the only commercial jet liner comparable in Britain is the Comet III which is still being tested. "America has nothing to offer," the News Chronicle added.

But the British press had no warm words for the general himself.

Serov's coming probably undid whatever success was achieved by the campaign of smiles and goodwill, carefully cultivated in recent months by the Kremlin, to assure a friendly reception for Bulganin and Khrushchev when they come here April 18.

Many observers consider Serov's trip a major blunder by the Kremlin, which certainly was aware that he was considered here the man responsible for the mass deportations and murders in Eastern Europe.

The pro-Laborite Daily Mirror, which claims a daily circulation of more than 4½ million, devoted its first two pages today to an attack on Serov. It said:

"An odious thug arrived at London airport yesterday. His name is Ivan Alexandrovich Serov. Mark him well. Look upon his smiling face. For this man is the Himmler of the Soviet Union and his business is terror, torture and the grave."

"How does it come that we who refused to receive Goering before the war can now accept this revolting butcher?"

The conservative Daily Mail called him the "archpriest of political persecution." The liberal News Chronicle referred to his "vicious and ugly past," although it said he had a right to come here in line of duty.

3 Different Disputes Seen Bringing Strife

Pennsylvania, Nickel Plate Lines Tagged As Specific Targets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three unions representing railroad workers today hinted strongly that a series of tieups of rail facilities may be in the offing.

Railroad firemen have threatened a nationwide strike to "protect our jobs."

The Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate roads are specific targets.

The firemen's brotherhood set no deadline, but its president, H. E. Gilbert, has advised President Eisenhower the union would take "sternest measures of resistance."

This would include a strike if the carriers go through with what the union calls a move to abolish its members' jobs.

A smaller but more immediate threat came from the Transport Workers Union (TWU). Presidents of 52 TWU locals voted in Pittsburgh yesterday to call a strike of 25,000 nonoperating workers of the Pennsylvania Railroad for next Thursday unless a dispute over layoffs is resolved.

The strike would involve repair, maintenance and service personnel not directly concerned with the operation of trains, employed by the Pennsylvania system between New York and Chicago.

IN A THIRD railway labor dispute, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen & Enginemen today set next Monday as the date for a strike against the Nickel Plate Railroad.

This dispute is over rules. The union represents about 1,500 firemen and hostlers on the Nickel Plate line from Buffalo to Chicago and St. Louis.

Hostlers handle engines in and around the roundhouse.

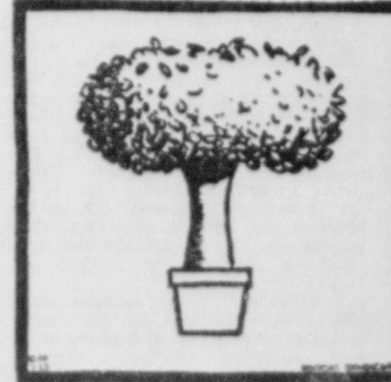

A union spokesman said negotiations ended yesterday after several months in which "very little progress" was made toward a settlement. He said the issues in question have been a "source of trouble for a long time."

The official emphasized that these issues were separate from those involved in setting an earlier strike date, which was postponed, but said they were similar.

The previous dispute has been put in the hands of the mediation board. The board may lump the

"ATOMIC PLANT"

The original drawing of this Atomic Plant was so realistic I was going to mail it to the editor of this paper in a lead-lined envelope, but Dr. Schwine checked it with his Geiger Counter and said it wasn't radio-active. It had a couple of Geigers on it but we scraped them off with a razor blade. This just shows that none of use should forget we're living in the Atomic Age. In fact I'm writing a pamphlet about it called "URANIUM AND YOU" which contains such informative articles as "HOW TO HIDE AN ATOMIC PILE UNDER THE RUG", "WHERE TO BUY PLUTONIUM WHOLESALE", "IS U-235 REALLY DEHYDRATED CHICKEN FAT?", "HOW TO MAKE A BOMB SHELTER OUT OF A BEACH UMBRELLA", and many others too humorous to mention.

Social Security Changes Unwanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has turned thumbs down on House-passed proposals to provide Social Security retirement benefits for women at age 62 and payments to the totally disabled starting at age 50.

Secretary of Welfare Folsom also rejected the accompanying increase in the Social Security tax from 2 to 2½ per cent immediately to help finance the broadened benefits.

Republican senators had commented privately that it has wide appeal in an election year.

old issues and the new ones in its considerations.

Nickel Plate employees represented by the brotherhood authorized a strike in a vote last December, the union said.

Under the Railway Labor Act, a strike would have to be postponed for 60 days if the mediation board intervenes.

The firemen, who won pay raises from 10 to more than 30 cents an hour last October, now are seeking a $3 daily wage boost. They now earn about $100 a week.

As part of the negotiations, the railroads have proposed that they have "unrestricted right to determine when and if a fireman shall be used on other than steam power."

FIREMEN LONG shoveled coal by hand into the fireboxes of steam locomotives and later supervised operation of coal stokers. On diesels, which use oil for fuel, the union contends firemen are needed to help engineers operate the trains and to make emergency repairs to machinery.

Gilbert told Eisenhower the negotiations are deadlocked. No formal strike notice was filed.

In the Pennsylvania dispute, a strike notice was filed yesterday. But Andrew J. Kaelin, TWU vice president and railroad coordinator, said a strike can be averted if railroad officials "will sit down" and negotiate the issue.

Kaelin said the company is "insisting on lying off employees throughout the entire system" without consulting with the union. A company spokesman said he knew of no general layoff.

Police Chief Gives Warning On Salesmen

"Obnoxious" salesmen have again begun to plague the Circleville area, according to Police Chief Elmer Merriman.

"I remind everyone that before a salesman can sell here in town he needs a special license signed by me," the chief said. "When a salesman comes to your door, ask him for the license first thing. If he doesn't have it, call us at 53 right away."

Chief Merriman said he has already received several complaints about a photography salesman. "But there are others too," the chief said, "who get too rough or fresh."

"The only way we can get to the bottom of this is to catch them right away," he said. "If there's any doubt, call us—don't wait until he's gone."

Salesmen in the county need a license signed by Sheriff Charles Radcliff.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. His offices are in the basement of the courthouse at Circleville.)

Q—My husband died of a disease he incurred during World War II. The VA has termed his death service-connected and has awarded me $87 per month. I also draw service-connected benefits as a result of injuries received while I was a member of the WAVES during World War II. How soon must I notify the VA that I am receiving two payments?

A—You do not need to notify the VA of this fact. Your payments are for two separate reasons, with no connection between the two. You are entitled to them both.

Q—My husband, a World War I veteran passed away, leaving me with two children. The boy is 22 years old and attending college. The girl is 16 and in high school. My husband was drawing non-service pension at the time of his death. My husband and I owned a small store which normally grossed about $12,000 per year. May I apply and receive a pension, and if so, how much?

A—This question can be very misleading. However, since your husband at the time of his death was drawing a non-service-connected pension, the fact has been established that your net income from your store is less than $2,700. Therefore, you would be entitled to receive a death pension, in the amount of $63 per month.

Q—My first husband passed away several years ago, leaving me with two boys to support, and they are now 15 years old. I have never applied for any benefits from the VA, and have remarried. My present husband says that I am entitled to pension for the twins. Is this true?

A—Since you have remarried, you, yourself, will not be eligible for any VA benefits, however, your twin boys, provided all service and other enabling requirements are met, are entitled to $40.95 to be equally divided.

Q—What is the cutoff date for World War II and Korean veterans for a G.I. loan?

A—The cutoff date for World War II veterans is July 25, 1957. The cutoff date for Korean veterans is Jan. 31, 1965.

Q—Can I get a G.I. loan to pay several small bills now past due, for such things as furniture, appliances, grocery and a doctor?

A—No, you may not. Regulations do not permit the application of money borrowed under a G.I. loan to apply to small debts such as you have mentioned.

Q—On what date must a Korean veteran be in training if he desires to take advantage of Public Law 550? (The Korean

Famed Showboat Captain Is Dead

CHICAGO (AP)—Capt. Ralph W. Emerson, 75, whose fleet of showboats once plied the Ohio from Pittsburgh to Cairo is dead.

One of his fleet of seven floating theaters was the Cotton Blossom which Edna Ferber used as a setting for her novel, "Showboat." Her story was translated into an American classic on the musical comedy stage.

Emerson's ornate fleet also plied the Mississippi, playing melodramas like "Why Girls Leave Home" at prices from 25 to 75 cents.

County School Boards Get Details On Foundation Plan

BY LOU FABRO
Herald Staff Writer

A comprehensive explanation of the state's new school foundation program was heard by members of the Pickaway County school boards at their annual meeting.

The new program was enacted into law by the 101st State General Assembly and is to go into effect next Oct. 1.

T. T. O'Keefe, director of research of the Ohio Education Association, discussed the new foundation setup.

A follow-up talk was given by E. Ben Keller, controller of the division of finance of the state department of education.

UNDER THE new program, funds will be allocated by the state to boards of education on a teacher-unit basis, rather than on the average daily membership plan currently in use.

Also to be considered in setting the amount of allocation is the length of training period the teacher has completed. The more training, the higher the salary, and thus the higher the allocation.

According to the new law, one teacher unit is allowed for every 30 pupils in a school with an enrollment of 175 or more. This ratio is scaled down so that the minimum would be one teacher to every 26 pupils in an elementary school of 40-54 pupils, and one teacher unit to every 21 students in a high school with an enrollment of less than 35.

For example, New Holland School has 230 elementary pupils, which would give the school a 7:37 teacher unit.

In New Holland High School, there are 75 students, which would credit the school with 3.26 teacher units, or one unit for each 23 students. For teaching, administration, etc., the school is awarded 1.36 more teacher units for a grand total of 12.29 teacher units.

Using the salary allotment scale of the new plan based on years of training, the State would furnish New Holland with $43,270 towards its salary schedule.

THE LOCAL share of the budget is 10 mills times the tax valuation, which is $2,606,482. This would make the local share $26,064.82, which means the state's share would be $43,039.43.

Under the present program, the school received approximately $33,649 from the state, so that under the new setup the school would stand to benefit appreciably.

The above explanation deals only in estimates, and does not cover all phases of the new plan, which is complicated.

Board members were introduced at the annual session of the county boards, which was in charge of County Superintendent of Schools George McDowell.

FBI Chief Admits Incorrect Arrest

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has acknowledged that FBI agents arrested an innocent man in Toledo, Ohio, in the belief he was connected with bank robbers.

But he said he is "glad" that the wrongly arrested man, beer tavern proprietor Michael Timmon, was "completely freed" of a charge by FBI agents that he had forged a $20 check.

Hoover's statements were contained in a letter to Rep. Ashley

3 Jail Escapees Returned To Wapakoneta County Jail

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP)—Three youths who broke out of the Auglaize County jail were back in their old cells today following a spectacular chase by Indiana state police.

Bernard Harris, 18, and William Thomas, 20, both of Hazel Park, Mich., and Jerry Claus, 18, Muncie, Ind., were returned here Thursday night after waiving extradition in Indiana.

Harris and Thomas are under indictment for first degree murder for the holdup slaying of Charles Stolzenbach, 54, Wapakoneta tavern keeper. Claus was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

The trio escaped Wednesday afternoon by overpowering a deputy sheriff as he was bringing them food.

Harris was captured on a bus near Muncie after the driver signaled deputies by flashing his lights. Thomas and Claus surrendered voluntarily to deputy sheriffs at a filling station in Chesterfield, Ind., shortly after.

Their capture ended an intensive all-night manhunt Wednesday by more than fifty Indiana law officers.

The two Michigan youths said they had surrendered for fear they would be shot by pursuing police. Their jail break started as a joke, they added.

Harris gave this account: "We just were playing cards in the bullpen when the turnkey walked in with some food and we saw our chance."

"When he came to us, we pulled him inside the jail cell. Then we ran out of the jail and went for about four or five blocks before we got to a panel truck parked at the curb. The motor was running, so we jumped in and drove off."

Police said the boys later ditched the truck and picked up a second vehicle that had the keys in the ignition. They headed west into Indiana.

After state police gave chase and fired on their car, the three boys abandoned the car and fled into the Wooded Mounds state park area five miles east of Anderson, Harris said.

State and city police and sheriff's deputies fanned out into the area as night approached.

Harris said the three spent the night in a park near Chesterfield, Ind., where they were taken into custody Thursday.

Auglaize County Sheriff Robert Davison said he will file additional charges of auto theft and jail

Police Seeking Bass Fiddle Thief

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—A musically inclined thief big enough to carry a bass fiddle is the object of a police search here.

Carole Vogt of Portsmouth complained to police that someone entered her home Wednesday night and carried off a bass fiddle valued at $125.

breaking against the three boys. Meanwhile, Common Pleas Judge Jacob T. Koenig Thursday ruled on three motions concerning the first degree murder charges against Harris and Thomas.

He denied defense motions which would have required the state to file a bill of particulars against the pair and permit defense counsel to examine the state's evidence in the case.

Judge Koenig upheld a prosecution motion asking for a joint trial of the two. No date has been set for the trial.

Hat-Check Girl Is Cinderella Success In Movie Capital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—From hat-check chick to star — that's the Cinderella story of sexy - voiced Virginia Leith.

Virginia is now playing opposite every girl's dreamboat, William Holden, in "Toward the Unknown." He's her boss, too, since the film is being made for Holden's Toluca productions. He terms her "a remarkable talent" and tried to sign her for a picture a year. But her studio told him no sale; it has its own plans for the doll.

She is shapely, brown-haired, moody and sultry-voiced. She has always talked in low tones, she says. After 10 months of vocal training at the studio, she could almost make Lauren Bacall sound like a soprano.

Virginia's advent to stardom is a curious chain of circumstances. She grew up in Cleveland with little thought of becoming an actress. As a matter of fact, she wanted to write and even took a semester of journalism at Columbia University.

"I flunked out," she confessed. "I even barely got through high school. I had one of the highest I. Q.'s in school, but got some of the lowest grades. I was always daydreaming."

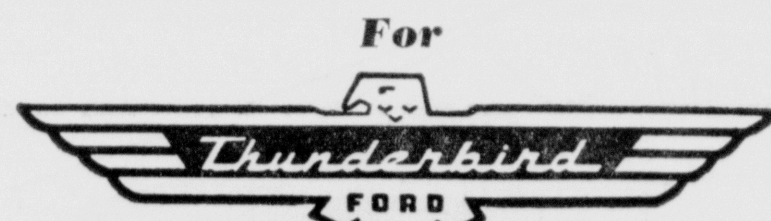

She came to California, but with no intention of trying to act. Her explanation: "I liked warm weather, but I didn't like Florida. So I came here."

Her first job was checking hats in a Beverly Hills restaurant. She took it because she got free meals and the tips gave her enough to live on. Then she landed a job as a showgirl in Ken Murray's "Blackouts." That lasted a year and she turned to modeling. One day she got a call for an interview with a bunch of men, none over 23.

"They wanted me for a movie," she recalled. "I was afraid they were going up in the mountains to make some stag reels."

The assignment turned out to be an arty film made by the young amateurs. It was called "Fear and Desire" and Virginia didn't have a word in it. She was tied to a stake and required to recoil fearfully while the mad-dened villain menaced her.

The picture never went very far, but caused enough notice to get her a four-page layout in Life Magazine. Twentieth Century-Fox saw it and caught up with her in New York, where she had gone for some TV. The result: a test and a contract.

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

Ohio dairy farmers can add from $10 to $40 to their net income per cow if they will make greater use of improved roughage practices, a Michigan State University agricultural economist told Farm and Home Week visitors. The farm and home program opened Monday at Ohio State University.

C. R. Hoglund said poor roughage has made it necessary for many dairymen to feed grain and protein at heavy rates. They should aim for alfalfa yields of 4 to 5 tons an acre, he said. These yields are comparable to 80 to 100-bushel corn yields, which are quite common in Ohio. Meadows harvested as grass silage should yield from 10 to 13 tons to the acre, the speaker pointed out.

Hoglund explained that research results in both Ohio and Michigan show that these high roughage yields can be attained by using more fertilizer and lime and improved seed, by following recommended management practices, and by harvesting and storing roughage as barn-dried hay or grass silage. Early harvesting is especially important, he noted.

"Dairy farmers who now are field-curing their hay will need to invest from $2,000 to $3,000 more in chopping equipment and silos if they are to shift to the production of grass silage," the Michigan economist said. "Increased quality and production of roughage make these investments profitable for most dairy farmers."

Dairymen can increase pasture production by 20 to 50 percent if they use more fertilizer, harvest surplus roughage early in the season for later summer use and follow such practices as strip-grazing and green-chopping, according to Hoglund. The direct chopping and hauling of pasture crops is best suited to specialized dairy farms with 30 or more cows, he said.

Some herbicide manufacturers are lowering the concentration of 2,4-D formulations because they believe farmers will buy on price instead of quality, Dr. C. J. Willard, professor of agronomy at Ohio State University, told a Farm and Home Week audience at Ohio State University.

Dr. Willard called such a practice a backward and unfortunate step. He said there already is evidence the trend will be intensified in 1936.

The agronomist compared the situation to that of fertilizers during the last 50 years. Fifty years ago the most common fertilizer in this area was a 2-8-2, and manufacturers justified the sale of this low-grade material on the ground that farmers bought fertilizer by the ton rather than by quality, he recalled. Now Ohio farmers are pretty well convinced of the value of high analysis fertilizers, he noted, and agronomists are recommending the same high analysis for herbicides.

Dr. Willard said that since mixing charges, containers, freight, handling, etc., must be paid on twice as much material for a 2-pound-per-gallon formulation as for one of 4 pounds, farmers can buy 2,4-D, 2,4,5-T, or mixtures of them cheaper in 3 or 4-pound formulations than they can in 1 or 2-pound formulations.

He urged farmers to demand 3 1-3 or 4-pound per gallon formulations rather than the low-grade competitive products.

Here are some "Tricks in Starting Chicks," presented to a Farm and Home Week audience by J. H. Smith of Ohio State University's poultry department:

1. Practice strict sanitation. It is a must in brooding chicks. Several weeks before the chicks arrive the entire brooder house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected, including walls and ceiling. Brooding equipment also should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

2. Get quality chicks. Low quality chicks that survive the brooding and rearing period and are housed as layers usually lay fewer eggs and therefore are less profitable than high quality chicks that are bred for high egg production and low mortality. Before ordering, be sure chicks are pullorum clean and are from healthy stock that have been bred for high egg production and low mortality.

3. Provide proper ventilation. Chicks can stand considerable cool air, but they are highly susceptible to drafts. A well-ventilated house should offer no noticeable pungency on entrance from outdoors and litter should be dry.

4. Preheat brooder house. This should be done 3 or 4 days before the chicks arrive.

5. Do not crowd chicks. Allow 1 square foot of floor space per bird to 8 weeks of age. During the first 8 weeks a chick multiplies its weight from 8 to 10 times.

6. Regulate temperature. Before the chicks arrive and during the first week the normal brooding temperature is 95 degrees, 2 inches above the litter with an electric brooder.

7. Feeders and waterers should be chosen with care. Provide 2 inches of hopper space per bird to 8 weeks of age and 3 two-quart glass waterers for chicks through 4 weeks of age. From 4 to 8 weeks of age 4 three-gallon founts, or their equivalent, are needed.

8. Continue sanitation practices. They are necessary throughout the life of the birds.

Another Boom Seen Coming For Business

Many Signs Of New Economic Upsurge Noted By Executives

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Stock traders and many industrial leaders see a new boom a-building today on top of the old.

The question many ask: will it be a healthy growth after the brief rest of the last two or three months, or will it be as collapsible as bubblegum?

Signs of a new upsurge are many. You find them in the confident predictions of corporate executives now busily reporting to their stockholders. You find them in the big plans they announce for expansion of their plants.

Stockholders themselves reflect the new confidence by pushing the stock price averages into new high ground.

There are signs that the lag in auto sales and home building may be ending. The slowdown in these two fields was the major item that brought the overall economy to its leveling off period.

New car sales are perking up a little with the approach of better driving weather.

Home builders say that increased applications for mortgages foreshadow a construction revival, perhaps by next month. The accent is shifting from the low-priced "shelter" type of house to the larger, more expensive home. Even so, builders now talk of 1936's equalling 1935's total of 1,300,000 new homes — with the total money spent climbing above last year's.

Consumer spending on durable goods — cars, home appliances and the like — has been off about 10 per cent in the first three months of this year, the economists estimate. Consumer spending on other things has run along at about the old rate, or a little higher. Part of the lull in buying of big-ticket items is thought due to the record load of personal debt on which consumers are doggedly making their monthly payments. That discourages more buying.

Another factor is that consumers are in a good position now to await for bargains. Business competition is so keen that retail price rises are the exception so far, despite rising manufacturing costs.

But polls indicate that consumers expect to spend about as much this year as last. And business is confident it will find markets for the goods it will make in the new plants it is building.

Signs of the new upsurge are also to be found in the flood of new orders many manufacturers report of late, and in the evident desire of many firms to build up their inventories.

To finance all this, business is borrowing more heavily from the banks this year than last. Such loans have gained by 394 million dollars so far in 1936, compared with 161 million in the same period last year.

Some of these signs of the new boom have their worrisome side.

"Mary Hawthorth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband disapproves of my holding a job, as we have a young son and he thinks I should stay home and care for him. I too have always felt that a woman's place is in the home; but since being married I see that it actually takes two to make a living, to live fairly comfortably.

I don't want riches, mink coats or foolish frippery. I only want a little money in the bank, for security and in case of emergency; and to give my child a good education. And I'd like to have a few essentials (not luxuries) in my household.

Dick has always managed the money and he does a very good job of it; but he only makes three thousand a year, which isn't enough to cover our needs. Still he argues against my getting a job. For example, he says that the costs of carfare, lunches, clothes for work, baby sitter, etc., would amount to more than I'd earn. But I think he should at least let me try.

I have never had a job, and I want a little experience, in case anything should happen to Dick. Isn't there some way I can get him to understand my wishes? We have discussed it at times but always end in dispute. I love him and don't want differences to come between us; I just want a little happiness in life.

H. F.

DEAR H. F.: I am not sure that your motives for wanting a job are as large minded, as lofty and contributive, as you say. If you were truly maternal, I think you'd thank Providence for any domestic arrangement, however humble, that permits you to supervise and share your child's experiences, in the crucially important pre-school years—when his future is being substantially formed.

Your lack of job experience, so far, suggests that you married quite young, and also that you have a lot to learn, about handling adult responsibilities in a dependable manner.

Even if you could find and hold a job, with Dick's permission, still it remains to be proved that your family (or you) would benefit by it. Many wives have discovered, too late, their mistake in having conditioned the partner to count on their earnings—when eventually the wife longs to stay home and be fully supported, but finds the husband has lost interest in being a hero in her book.

Moreover, children are children a very short time, in terms of the average life span. And their infancy is fleeting indeed. And in this brief period, their physical, mental and emotional well being (or lack of it)—which will determine their later history—is perilously dependent upon the quality of supervisory care they get in waking hours. And with few exceptions, a mother's care beats any substitutes that one can buy.

The short-term sacrifice of immediate material comforts, and the courage to make-do on little money, in order to provide your child wholehearted care in his most needful phase, is probably a more constructive course for you just now, then getting a job. And if you accept it in good spirit, it should pay you the greatest dividends of happiness in the long run.

Recruiting Teachers Said Major Need

COLUMBUS — A plea for help in recruiting teachers to meet the needs of Ohio schools has been issued by Ralph S. Miller, president of Ohio Education Assn.

In a statement prepared for the opening of teacher career week, March 25-1, Miller said "too many citizens make it plain to young people that they regard teachers as second-class citizens." Miller urged citizens and civic-minded organizations to help recruit more teachers.

Special Assembly Session Looms Over Ohio Tax Issue

COLUMBUS — Possibility of a special session of the Ohio Legislature to take up a tax matter complicated by a recent state supreme court decision loomed today.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche announced he had called a meeting for March 28 with local government tax officials to discuss the problem arising from the court decision holding invalid taxes assessed against bank shares insofar as they included federal securities.

He also asked Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill to prepare an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

The March 28 meeting is set for 10 a. m. The governor said he had invited Fred Schneider, president of the Ohio Municipal League; George Taylor, president of the County Commissioners Assn. of Ohio, and John Loomis, president of the Township Trustees and Clerks Assn.

The governor said it appears that the effect of the court decision will result in a loss of about $12 million to local governments. The taxes that were paid on bank stock between the years of 1947 and 1955, he said, will have to be rebated to the extent that the federal securities were used in determining the value of the shares.

Impact of the decision, the governor said, will be felt by towns, villages, cities, counties and other governmental agencies which were participants in the distribution of the taxes by the county budget commissions.

Gov. Lausche said he had discussed with state officials the advisability of calling a special session of the Legislature for the purpose of reimposing the tax in conformity with the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court, and also increase the tax on deposits from the present level of two mills to a level of three mills.

3 Hookey-Players Save Woman Driver

CHESAPEAKE — Mrs. William Smith of Willow Wood was rescued after her car plunged into Symmes Creek near here yesterday by three teen-agers playing hookey from school.

The three boys were identified as Leslie Gannon, 15, and his brother Larry, 13, and James Markins, 14, all of Kitts Hill.

Inventory building increases factory output. But some of it may be out of fear of major strikes this summer, or of the creeping inflation in the prices of industrial materials.

And if consumer buying doesn't increase as now expected, business firms could start living off their inventories — and then factory output would drop.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some food stores, already angling for the Easter trade, are offering two popular holiday meats—turkey and ham—at special prices this weekend.

One big chain is bringing oven-ready turkeys down to 53 cents a pound and plans to keep the birds on sale at that price through next week. Chickens are also offered as weekend specials in many stores.

Ham will be seen less frequently as a special this weekend but here and there stores are attracting attention by offering it a week ahead of the Easter feast.

Pork, which has been the mainstay of the low-priced meat market in recent months, moved a little higher this week. It is still generally a good buy, however.

Wholesale hog prices this week are a little higher.

Beef prices are steady this week. Veal rates as a good buy, and lamb cuts are a shade higher on some wholesale markets.

"Good" vegetable buys include escarole and endive, beans, cabbage, carrots, pascal celery, and potatoes.

Khrushchev Keeping Head Despite Stalin Myth Story

MOSCOW (U-P) — Nikita Khrushchev's "collective leadership" of the Soviet Union appeared firmly in the saddle today despite its vigorous campaign to smash the Stalin hero myth.

The majority of the Communist party members attending meetings now being held to discuss Khrushchev's secret speech Feb. 24 wholeheartedly approve the party boss's denunciation of the dead dictator, it was learned.

Some party members are reported dissenting in the meetings going on throughout the country. But their disapproval apparently is based not so much on reverence for the late generalissimo as on doubt whether it is wise for the Communist party to adopt such a drastic reconditioning program at this time.

Some of Moscow's top diplomats expressed concern over speculation abroad that recent student demonstrations in Stalin's homeland of Georgia were indications that the Soviet government is tottering. These diplomats regard the demonstrations as no threat to the government, but rather outbursts of a proud, hot-blooded people against criticism of the local boy who made good.

"The systematic destruction of Stalin," said one of the best informed Western diplomats here, "is a cool, calculated program aimed at re-establishing the people's confidence in their government and erasing the feeling of insecurity which prevailed under him."

One Communist source viewed the startling pronouncements and developments of the past weeks as a sign of strength in the Red regime rather than any indication of cracks in its structure.

"It was a shock among the party ranks, but Communist party members are sophisticated people," he declared.

(Khrushchev in his speech reportedly said Stalin had murdered thousands of army personnel and Soviet citizens on trumped-up charges during the bloody purges of the 1930s and his later years. The party secretary also accused Stalin of committing incredible blunders in the war against Hitler.

(The New York Herald Tribune reported today from Moscow that Khrushchev also said Stalin before his death had planned to liquidate Khrushchev, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and President Klementi Y. Voroshilov. The speech also reportedly accused the dictator of ordering the murders of three-fourths of the delegates to a party congress because they had criticized his policies.)

Although some informed sources doubt that the text of Khrushchev's speech will ever be published, it has already been widely circulated at the re-education meetings among party members and millions of ordinary workers and peasants.

Persons who have attended the meetings say even those favoring the new Soviet course often have a sense of deep emotional and intellectual shock at first. But this, they say, is replaced by an attitude of pleasure at learning a truer version of history and an appreciation for the education process which has taken the place of Stalin's "believe this or else."

The most critical problem facing the re-educators are the Soviet youth and the less sophisticated masses, who were brought up to regard Stalin as a deity. But both Westerners and Communists in Moscow agree that time will take care of that and dilute the shock of the violent switch.

Along with the party instruction meetings, it was learned, the teaching of history in Soviet schools is being revised to remove the version of Stalin as the one-man winner of World War II. New textbooks on the war reportedly will be ready in the fall. Meanwhile, one source said, the schools are carrying on, "but with difficulty."

Sen. Johnson Seen Bringing Texas Back Into Dem Fold

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

AUSTIN, Tex. (U-P)—If anyone can bring a measure of unity among Texas Democrats and pave the way for recapture of the state from President Eisenhower, it's Lyndon B. Johnson.

That, at least, is the view of many Democratic "loyalists" in the Lone Star State, where Eisenhower defeated Adlai Stevenson four years ago by 1,022,878 votes to 969,228.

It is the view of Sam Rayburn, speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives, and leader of the Texas faction which supported Stevenson in 1952.

Rayburn has proposed that the state convention at Dallas May 22 endorse Johnson as Texas' "favorite son" presidential candidate and elect him as chairman of the state's delegation to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Johnson, Democratic leader of the U. S. Senate, supported Stevenson's candidacy in 1952. Also, he has friends among the followers of Gov. Allan Shivers, who bolted the party four years ago and carried the state Democratic Committee with him.

Rayburn's move ran head-on into Shivers' plans to head the Texas delegation to the national convention to fight again for a strong states' rights plank in the party platform and a candidate acceptable to him.

Shivers, in an interview, would not comment on Johnson as a "favorite son" candidate. But he said he would oppose Johnson's selection as chairman of the delegation.

Johnson is in no hurry to make any move until he has time to measure the reaction. Meantime, Sen. Russell (D-Ga) and other Southern Democrats have spoken favorably of him.

If Johnson does make the fight, his friends say he will go all-out. Some reporters in Austin say he has one of the strongest personal organizations in the state. He's taking things as easy as he can after a heart attack last July.

Shivers says he will support Eisenhower again if the democrats should renominate Adlai Stevenson.

H. J. (Jack) Porter of Houston, the Republican national committeeman, said Eisenhower will carry the state again "regardless of the Democratic nominee, and regardless of whether Shivers supports him or the Democrat."

John Q. Adams of Harlingen, GOP state chairman, said Eisenhower's prospects for carrying the state again, "by about the same majority, are excellent."

Willard F. Buckingham, son of Mrs. Minnie Buckingham of Orient Route 2, has been promoted to sergeant first class while serving with the 9th Infantry Division in Germany.

As part of the U. S. Seventh Army, the 9th Division conducts rigorous training exercises, including realistic maneuvers and field problems, in southern Germany.

Buckingham, a squad leader in Company G of the division's 39th Regiment, entered the Army in 1949 and wears the Combat Infantryman Badge, Purple Heart and the Korean Service Ribbon.

The sergeant, whose wife, Kathryn, is with him in Germany, attended Mt. Sterling High School.

Writer Doubtful If Public Stirred By Video Awards

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (U-P)—Does anyone care who won Emmy Awards presented by the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences?

Certainly the winners care, as do their fiercest partisans—families, close friends, agents, networks and sponsors. But does the well-known public?

First of all, it's doubtful how widely the public has been informed. There were 41 categories of winners, a much longer story than I think many newspapers could find the space to print. And, powerful as television is as a communications medium, most people learn what is what in TV only through their papers.

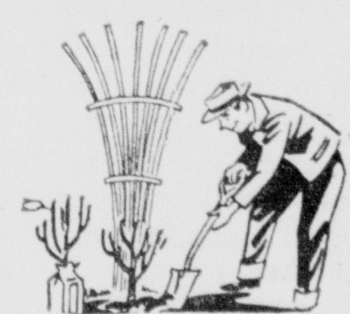

The academy put an additional crimp in publicizing its awards by selecting a Saturday evening to begin announcing the winners—and then dragging out the announcement interminably in what was almost the dull 90-minute program of the year as viewed on NBC-TV. It seems unlikely that much of the public stayed with that program. And it seems unlikely that many papers could find the space late on Saturday night to make a Sunday edition.

So it ended up with television talking to itself. And what incredible bores some very witty people turned out to be as they appeared on that tiresome 90-minute program. I stuck with it, but only through a sense of duty. At the end of the ordeal only 25 of the 41 winning categories had been announced.

This was chiefly because a lot of sharp wits had been conned into reading a lot of prepared stale jokes. George Gobel, Jimmy Durante, Sam Levenson . . . they were quenched by an avalanche of glacial indifference from four other members of Toledo's nine-man council. Both the chief and the head of the homicide squad, Detective Capt. Ralph Murphy, have been targets of mounting criticism because of two unsolved murders of housewives and the stabbing of a nurse. Allen has been in the Toledo department 42 years and its chief for 20 years.

HERE'S HOW . . .

Additional storage space or an extra room may be provided by flooring the attic.

The sub-floor must be smooth with no nail heads protruding, and no bumps or cupping in the boards. Inexpensive lumber, however, may be used.

Sub-floors should be laid diagonally across the joists, as shown in the drawing.

Most sub-floors are made of 1-inch lumber, either square-edge or tongued and grooved. At least two 8-penny nails should be used where each board crosses a joist. All joints are made on joists.

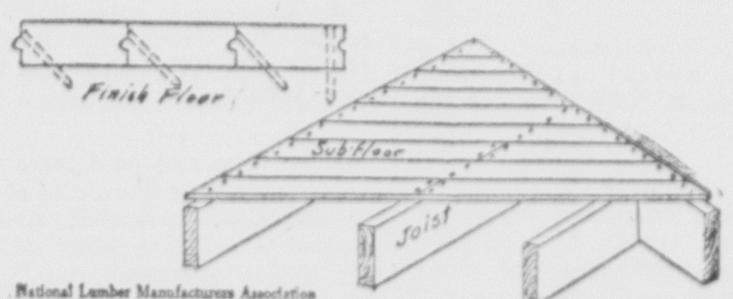

The finish flooring starts at a wall and is laid square with the room. A 1/4-inch expansion space, to be covered by the base shoe molding is left next to the wall.

Nail the first board as shown. The one surface nail is covered by the base shoe molding. The rest of the nailing is "blind"—the nails are driven at a 45-degree angle just above the tongue; then sunk with a nail set. Use casing nails or cut nails, 8-penny for 25/32-inch, 6-penny for thinner flooring, 12 to 16 inches apart.

A block for driving the flooring together snugly may be made of scrap flooring with the tongue planed off.

See us for estimates and materials on your project!

CATASTROPHES MAN-MADE?

MAN MAY BE causing many of nature's recent rampages, according to a witness before a House Appropriations subcommittee in Washington. Dr. Roger R. Revelle, director of the California Scripps Institution of Oceanography, claims there are many who believe the ever-increasing carbon dioxide content of the atmosphere may be responsible for the large number of hurricanes experienced on the East Coast in recent years.

Dr. Revelle said this is one of the problems scientists want to look into during the International Geophysical Year which will take place during 1957-58. Combustive materials are adding "tremendous quantities of carbon dioxide in the air," the scientist reported, and many persons believe that by raising atmospheric temperatures this condition may "cause a remarkable change in climate."

It was only a few weeks ago that other scientists, working on a different phase of the same problem, came to virtually the same conclusion. Studying the effects of cloud seeding with dry ice, researchers came to the conclusion that it was worthless because this seeding was based on the theory that rain was caused by moisture droplets which froze together in the atmosphere and, when heavy enough, fell to earth.

Whereas, these scientists said, the ice theory is incorrect and the moisture actually collected around particles of waste combustive materials.

If, as Dr. Revelle says, "the increase in the number of hurricanes on the East Coast is certainly tied in one way or the other with the general northward movement of the warm air," and because scientists from different directions seem to be converging upon the same conclusion, this study may be one of the most important undertakings during the International Geophysical Year.

FOOD SUBSIDY TO REDS?

THERE HAS been a long quarrel between the Department of State and the Department of Agriculture over disposal of U. S. farm surpluses abroad. Agriculture would dispose of them in great gobs but State wants to go slow because of commitments to various nations.

The Agriculture Department has had the advantage in Congress. But occasionally something happens which gives point to State Department reluctance. One such instance comes from Indonesia.

The Republic of Indonesia has had communist leanings since breaking free from Holland. It has since scrapped some agreements with that European nation and former colonial power. Recently the U. S. agreed to sell Indonesia approximately $100 million of surplus farm products, taking native currency in exchange.

Since this deal was made, President Soekarno of Indonesia has made a compromise with the communists for a popular front government. This is the type of government which the reds infiltrate heavily and then take over at their leisure.

If American food to Indonesia is used to subsidize a flop to communist, it will be a black eye to the surplus program abroad. No American food should be sent to countries where active hostility to the U. S. is imminent.

Eastern man makes a living selling fleas at three cents each. Might it be said that he started from scratch?

Ike's Illness Lifts Curtain

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's illness has had some interesting and far-reaching effects on the whole story of heart trouble in the United States.

It is as though a curtain had been lifted letting in a lot of light. The thought struck me forcibly during some recent political pulse-taking along the Atlantic Seaboard. I talked with politicians and corporation heads, but most with plain John Smith, the voter, and his wife. The question of the President's physical condition naturally figured in most of these conversations.

Several things emerged. People now have a very good idea of exactly what happens in a "heart attack." Newspapers published an immense amount of basic information and explanation after the President was stricken. In short, the ABCs of this disability are pretty well known now whereas, before, it was a mysterious and terrifying subject.

Still another result seems to have been that people who had heart attacks have lost some shyness about discussing the problem. I met several who, in discussing the coming election, quietly volunteered the information that they had been through the same experience as Eisenhower. I have, too.

Incidentally, three out of four said they would vote for him, although one man said he thought the President was "foolish" to undertake a second term. Unquestionably, some of the panic and terror about heart disease has been dispelled simply by the publicity the President's attack brought to it.

People know that thousands of others have had attacks, survived them, and gone on to live happy and useful lives. They know the "cardiac" is not an invalid.

Statistics in the United States are sometimes called "alarm-

CHAPTER NINETEEN

AT THE SHOP, Meg did not mince words. Jenny's eyes filled with quick tears and Meg held her close. "You mustn't grieve, Jenny. Frank Fleur wasn't—he wasn't worth loving."

Jenny drew away from Meg's arms. "You don't measure and assess if you love a person, Meg."

Meg was unexpectedly abashed. Maybe Jenny didn't, but Meg knew only too well that she did. Kemp and she had quarreled because this was so. Meg felt an unfamiliar flood of humility.

At the end of the second day, Meg felt free to attack the subject of David again. "Jenny, if David were your husband, would you leave him alone in that horrible gray toad of a house across the alley?"

David was now out on bail; Anna was still occupying Matilda's third-floor room. "A month ago, Jenny might have evaded this question. Now she bit off a thread and replied. "No, I would stay in the gray toad of a house with him."

Meg glanced sharply at her. Was Jenny belatedly acquiring a sense of humor?

"I've no patience with Matilda. She ought to tell Anna her room's better than her company."

"Matilda is sorry for Anna," Jenny said.

"And she believes David guilty too! If Anna acted decently, she wouldn't. If she stood by David—what are you smirking about, Jenny Fleur?"

"Having your father bring you up gave you a pretty masculine viewpoint, didn't it, Meg?"

"I detested Father's viewpoints!" "Someone he made you see men as—as..." She frowned in perplexity.

"As human beings?" Meg snapped.

"I couldn't have seen it before I knew you, Meg, but I do now. Most of us think of men as—well, different."

Meg closed her mouth carefully. To find Jenny mousing such philosophy was like hearing a canary snarl. But Jenny was wrong about one thing. If anyone had taught her, it was Kemp, not Father.

The idea left her weak, as if Kemp had caressed her in public. Kemp had made love—yes, sex too—inevitable and lovely. She shivered as if his lips were again in the hollow of her throat, all resistance drained from her. This, Meg told herself, is no time to be thinking about love-making. Put your mind on David.

She put her interrupted strategy

How To Stop Hiccups

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

IS there anyone who at one time or another hasn't wished he had a good remedy for stopping hiccups?

Well, let me give you a few that usually work.

Spasmodic Contraction

Hiccup or hiccough is a spasmodic contraction of the diaphragm. It may be caused by anything which irritates the afferent or efferent nerve pathways or the centers which control the respiration muscles.

Usually, in the case of mild, passing attacks, the cause is never determined. Alcoholic drinks, as we all know, at times produce hiccups. Indigestion sometimes is the cause.

Various Illnesses

Swallowing hot foods or other irritating substances can set you hiccupping as can various illnesses such as pneumonia. Bladder irritation may be the source of your trouble. And attacks may occur during pregnancy.

Severe cases of hiccupping call for the services of a physician.

Various Drugs

There are various drugs he may employ such as amphetamine or benzyl benzoate to halt an attack. Maybe a local anesthetic such as cocaine may be administered by mouth.

But for mild cases at home, you can try these simple measures.

If one doesn't work, maybe another will.

Hold your breath as long as you can. If this doesn't work, try taking a series of regular deep breaths.

Rapidly drink a glassful of cold water without stopping. Mixing a little baking soda in the water might help.

Swallowing dry bread or crushed ice may do the trick.

Pressure To Eyeballs

Pulling your tongue out as far as possible might bring relief. Applying pressure to your eyeballs sometimes works, too.

The old remedy of breathing into a paper bag placed tightly over your face sometimes helps by increasing the amount of carbon dioxide in your body.

If these methods do not work, or your hiccups return frequently, you'd better see your doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mrs. A. A.: I have always thought that coronary heart disease occurs only in older persons. Is it true that young persons can have it also?

Answer: Yes, coronary heart attacks have been reported in persons in their teens and they are not too infrequent in persons under 30 years of age.

It is believed that the tensions of fast living may be a factor producing these attacks in young persons.

State Conference Reports To Highlight DAR Meeting

Pickaway Chapter Receives Awards

Reports of the annual state conference of Ohio Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will highlight the next meeting of Pickaway Plains Chapter of the DAR.

The session will be held in the home of Mrs. Charles Schleich on the Hornbeck-Garver Rd., two miles west of Williamsport at 2:30 p. m. next Tuesday. The time and date represents a change.

At the state conference, the Pickaway Plains Chapter received five awards for excelling in DAR projects.

The local group ranked second in the state in number of inches of publicity, "due", said Miss Marie L. Hamilton, Chapter Regent, "to the fine cooperation of the Circleville Herald."

During the state session, which was held in Cleveland this past week, Mrs. Martin W. Cromley of Ashville, a member of the local DAR Chapter, was elected Chaplain of the Ohio Society.

Besides Mrs. Cromley, others attending the state conference were: Miss Hamilton, Mrs. R. R. Bales, and Mrs. Charles H. May.

At the Tuesday meeting, which all members are urged to attend, Miss Alice Ada May will present the national defense topic.

Blue Star Chapter Entertains Vets

Some 70 patients in Veterans Hospital at Chillicothe were pleasantly entertained to an Easter party given by the Blue Star Mothers Chapter 7.

The group sang songs, provided music and served refreshments in the Easter theme, of ice cream, cake, potato chips, eggs, and coffee. Cigarettes also were distributed.

Mrs. Allen Ankrom accompanied the group on the piano.

Members serving on the hospital committee were: Mrs. John Ankrom, chairman; Mrs. Harry Grump, Mrs. R. D. Good, and Mrs. Howard Smith.

Give your family a head start on busy days — serve a hearty breakfast that will provide plenty of energy for a good morning's work at school, office or home. For a new tasty way to serve eggs, try them baked in a buttery nest made of enriched yeast-raised bread crumbs. Fruit juice, sweet rolls from your bakery and a beverage will complete a well-balanced breakfast for all.

BAKED EGGS

8 slices enriched yeast-raised bread	1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons margarine or butter	Dash tabasco (optional)
1/8 teaspoon pepper	4 eggs

Trim crusts from bread and tear apart to form ragged crumbs. Melt margarine or butter. Add crumbs and toss until well coated with margarine. Season with pepper and salt and tabasco, if desired. Spread crumbs in well-greased baking dish. Break eggs over crumbs. Bake at 350°F. (moderate oven) 12 to 15 minutes or until eggs are set. Makes four servings.

Designers Create Delightful Line Of Seasonal Jewelry

Designers of fine costume jewelry, with their flair for anticipating a fashion mood, have created a line for Spring and Summer that is so fresh and delightful, it makes you feel gay just to look at it.

Taking their inspiration from many parts of the world, they have created jewelry that is so style-right for any part of the globe, for any and every activity, costume and hour, that it may truly be called an around-the-world, around-the-clock collection.

Far and away, the favorite choice this season is white because it is so flattering to every coloring—blondes, brunettes and redheads.

But for those who like color, there are pinks, corals, yellows—including and always important gold—and the becoming blues which range from the palest azure to deep turquoise.

Modeled in the above picture are two pins which have matching earrings and bracelet. All are fashioned of pearls and pretend-gold.

Another set of jewelry features a necklace, bracelet, and earrings set in white pearls or turquoise beads interspersed with rhinestone rondels.

The lighter look of tailored gold for Spring is exemplified in a golden lantern set. The textured pseudo-gold which forms the necklace, bracelet and earrings add a rich look to any costume.

Spread seven-minute frosting over your cake the moment the icing is ready. This frosting waits for no cook!

Add a tablespoon of cream for each egg when you are cooking scrambled eggs.

The Meaning of Christ's Suffering

BY HIS AGONY HE SAVES HIS PEOPLE FROM THEIR SINS

Scripture—Luke 23:1-56.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. CHRIST'S TRIALS occupy most of our lesson assignment today. How unjust these trials were we shall learn as we read Luke's account of them.

Possibly some of the older children who study this lesson have been in a modern courtroom where a trial was being held. No judge sitting on a case would be allowed to try a friend or acquaintance. He must be absolutely neutral.

The jurors listening to the evidence also must have no prejudices. They must listen intently to what the witnesses of both sides have to testify, and bring in their verdict of guilty or not guilty according to the knowledge they thus gain and by what the judge informs them in his "charge."

No shouting crowds are allowed in the courtroom to hurl accusations at the accused as in Jesus' case. We shall see as we read the story how lacking in right and justice these trials were when our Lord was condemned to death.

After the so-called trial before the scribes and Pharisees, Christ was taken before Pontius Pilate, the Roman procurator appointed to Judaea by Tiberius, the whole multitude following them. These enemies of the accused Jesus,

It seems that Pilate and Herod had been at enmity with each other before this trial, but now had become friends.

Pilate, afraid to offend the Jews, but still sure that Jesus had done nothing to deserve death, repeated that he found no fault with the Man, so he would scourge Him and let Him go. If Jesus was innocent why should He be beaten? Why did not Pilate stand firm on his verdict that Jesus was innocent? Because he was weak, as many of us are.

One man was to be released to the people, either a criminal or Jesus. Pilate asked the multitude which he should release, and they shouted Barabas, and when Pilate showed his willingness to release Jesus, the mob cried, "Crucify Him! Crucify Him!"

"And the voices of them and of the chief priests prevailed."

As they led Christ away to the place of execution they met a man named Simon, and they gave him the cross to bear. Multitudes followed, among them some women who were grief stricken for Him.

On the cross, in His agony, Christ prayed, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do."

Two malefactors were crucified with Him, one on each side. One mocked at the Lord, saying, "If

He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and with His stripes we are healed."—Isaiah 53:5.

MEMORY VERSE

saying, "We found this fellow perverting the nation, and forbidding to give tribute to Caesar, saying that He himself is Christ a King."

This was an out and out falsehood.

Pilate asked Jesus: "Art Thou the king of the Jews?" Jesus answered simply, "Thou sayest it." Pilate told all present, "I find no fault in this Man."

Fiercely the mob shouted, "He stirreth up the people, teaching throughout all Jewry, beginning from Galilee to this place."

"Was Jesus a Galilean?" asked Pilate, seeing a way to share the responsibility of the case. Being assured that He was, Pilate told the accusers to take Jesus before Herod. Now Herod had heard much of Jesus and hoped to see Him some day and possibly see Him perform a miracle, so he was glad when Christ was brought before him.

Herod asked Jesus some questions, but the Lord remained silent. The chief priests did not, however, hurling accusations at Him vehemently. Herod and his men then mocked the Lord, dressed Him in gorgeous robe, and sent Him back to Pilate.

Bible Words To Live By

Colossians 4:2-4 — "Continue steadfastly in prayer, being watchful in it with thanksgiving; and pray for us also, that God may open to us a door for the word, to declare the mystery of Christ, on account of which I am in prison, that I may make it clear, as I ought to speak." (RSV)

To kick open doors and force an entrance is human nature. To open doors for the truly humble to enter and be a servant to man and God is the way and prerogative of God alone.

Paul was convinced of a fact which we should understand; doors of opportunity for service are open all around us. Do we see them? Do we enter? Do we proclaim the mystery of Christ? Only the sensitive person will see these open doors. To the sensitive eye sharpened by Christian commitment; trained by prayer; dedicated in service; these doors become obvious.

It is not enough to see the door and declare the mystery of Christ. Many an entrance is made and the entrant stands haltingly on the threshold numbingly instantaneously which only confuse and frustrate the hearer.

Can you speak the message of the mystery of Christ to your neighbor when God has opened the door for you? Does the radiance and Truth of Christ shine through your countenance, acts and words?

"Rightly Dividing The Word of Truth"

Throughout the approximately 6000 years of man's history there have been three dispensations of religion: (1) Patriarchal, (2) Jewish, and (3) Christian. An outline of these periods follows:

- |                            |   |
|----------------------------|---|
| Patriarchal(2500 yrs.) | 1—"Patriarch" means father. God spoke in this period through the head of the family, who served as prophet and priest.2-God spoke orally. Had no written laws.3-Lasted 2500 years, from Adam to giving of Law of Moses on Mt. Sinai. Afterward, this period applied only to Gentiles. Read about it in Genesis 1-Exodus 19.   |
| Jewish(1500 yrs.)      | 1-This system grew out of the temporal promise God made to Abraham (Gen. 12:3; Gal. 3:16-17).2-Man's first written system, including the Ten Commandment Law and other ordinances.3-A national religion to the Jews only (Deut. 5; Heb. 8).4-A "shadow of good things to come" (Heb. 10:1).5-Temporary (Gal. 3:19; Heb. 8:7; Rom. 8:3).6-Read about it in Exodus 20 through Malachi.  |
| Christian(1900 yrs.)   | 1-Grew out of spiritual promises made to Abraham as fulfilled in Christ (Gen. 12:3; Heb. 8:6-13).2-Christ came to "take away the first, that he might establish the second" (Heb. 10:9).3-Much better in every way (2 Cor. 3; Heb. 9:10).4-To all nations (Matt. 28:19-20; Mk. 16:15-16).5-Became effective after death of Christ (Heb. 9:16-17).6-Promises forgiveness of sins upon obedience to the Gospel (Acts 2:38; Rom. 6:17; Heb. 8:12; 5:8-9).7-Read about it in the New Testament. |

Here Are Some Sidelights On State Basketball Tourney

CLEVELAND — This and that about the state high school basketball tournament, scheduled Friday and Saturday at Cleveland arena: Each team, win or lose, will receive 18 free souvenir programs. Players will be introduced individually before each game, via the public address system.

Only the winners of the championship games will be permitted to keep the game balls.

An emergency official will be on hand, in case one of the regular whistle-blowers is incapacitated. Players were compelled to submit a certificate showing they had passed a physical exam this week, before being allowed on the floor for Thursday's one-hour practice sessions.

Teams defeated in the semifinals will receive passes to Saturday's finals. Free parking was provided team automobiles at the Arena.

Competing teams will be seated on the same side of the floor, one on each side of the official scorers.

Last year the competing "A" teams turned back 2,000 tickets, and the "B" teams 4,000, before the semifinals. But everyone's scrambling for ducats this time.

Officials will not be announced until just before game time, and game time has been delayed five minutes to allow radio and television men to give the lineups after opening their broadcasts on the hour or half-hour.

Each school has been requested to furnish a courtesy scorekeeper to sit beside the official one.

The high school athletic Association announced it would not be responsible for accidents to players or spectators, loss of property, etc. Rectangular glass backboards will be used.

No bands will be permitted at the games, but each team may have six cheerleaders in uniform admitted free for its contest. Cheerleaders must have shoes with white or red rubber soles—no black.

A physician and nurse will be on hand for all games.

Commissioner H. W. Emswiler told the coaches they must file an itemized expense account before leaving town. And hotel bills must be paid before departure.

Middletown, champion in 1944, 1946, 1947, 1952 and 1953, is the only former winner in the tourney. The Middies were runners-up in 1945, Columbus North in 1932, and Canton McKinley in 1928, 1931, 1940 and 1943.

Willshire, rated the state's No. 1 class B team all season in The Associated Press poll, is the only one in the smaller school division to come close. The team, coached by Bob Games, was runner-up to Lockland Wayne last year after reaching the finals with a 28-0 record. This year Willshire goes in with 27-0, the only clean mark in Class B.

Winners of today's frays meet Saturday for the titles—the goal of 1052 teams which started down the tournament trail six weeks ago.

Based on past performance, any nod as favorite would have to go to Middletown in Class A and Willshire in Class B. The powerful Middies, built around 6-foot-8 15-year-old sophomore Jerry Lucas, have won 23 in a row in quest of their sixth state championship, and were rated No. 1 in the Associated Press poll all season.

Willshire, which carried a 27-0 record into last year's tourney, only to lose to Lockland Wayne in the finals, is back again with the same record. The Bearcats, under the canny coaching of Bob Games, were rated No. 1 in the Class B poll all season.

If the Middies and Bearcats come through, the state's sports editors could point with pride to the fact they knew it all the time, for no other teams menaced the two leaders in the voting by the scribes.

Oddly, the two Western Ohio unbeaten squads are the smallest of the survivors in their class. Willshire has only 59 boys enrolled, against 136 for Columbus St. Mary, 130 for Chagrin Falls, and 110 for Arcanum.

Middletown has 821 male students, Columbus North 789, Canton

McKinley 975, and Cleveland East Tech 965.

Today's Class B schedule sends Arcanum (25-1) against Willshire (27-0) and Columbus St. Mary (23-1) against Chagrin Falls (21-5).

The Class A games are Canton McKinley (21-3) vs Columbus North (19-5) and Cleveland East Tech (23-0) vs Middletown (23-0).

Saturday's Class B finals are at 2:05 p. m. with the Class A championship contest at 8:05 p. m.

The size of the youngsters drew "oh's and ah's" from spectators Thursday as the teams held hour-long workout on the Arena battle-ground. Every team has at least one boy over the 6-4 mark, and some tower higher than that.

The big one is Willshire's Gary Kesler, a 6 foot 10 1/2 giant who weighs 230 pounds but moves fast enough to average around 35 per game. He made the first All-Ohio team, as did Lucas of Middletown.

Paul Walker, the 44-year-old "coach of the year" who has led Middletown to three of its five titles, said he had no idea of East Tech's style of play or personnel, but insisted "we'll show up for the game, and we're not planning to go home Friday night." Middletown is the only former champion in either class.

Frenchie Favored To Defeat Jones

NEW YORK (AP)—France's Charley Humez, European middleweight king, makes his pro debut in the United States tonight as an 8-5 favorite over Ralph (Tiger) Jones in a television bout in Madison Square Garden.

The ring-worn, 28-year-old ex-collier, has been made the choice on his unbeaten streak of 17, his European reputation and his knockouts of countryman Pierre Langlois, a long-time campaigner in America, and Germany's Hans Stretz.

On the basis of the aggressive, wide-in styles of both, the fight figures to be a slugfest.

Louisville Due To Vie With Dayton In NIT

NEW YORK (AP)—Midnight finally tolled for St. Francis' hustling Cinderella team in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament and now it's top-seeded Dayton against second-seeded Louisville in the championship final tomorrow afternoon.

Dayton's Flyers, still looking for a title in their fourth trip to the final round in five tries, proved much too big and experienced for the Brooklyn Terriers 89-58 in the semifinals last night. St. Francis had upset 4th-seeded Niagara in the quarterfinals.

Louisville, like Dayton, looked its best in whacking third-seeded St. Joseph's of Philadelphia 89-79 in the other half of the semifinal. The title game will be televised nationally (CBS-3 p. m. EST).

It will be the third meeting between Dayton and Louisville this season. Each has a 25-3 record—but it was the Cardinals who made off with two of Dayton's setbacks, 66-64 in overtime, and 59-56. Dayton's mastery of little St. Francis was slow starting, but once the Flyers got moving, it was a rout.

It was a contest for only 12 minutes, at which point the scrappy Terriers led 20-19. They got just two more points in the half—and before Dayton Coach Tom Blackburn started yanking his regulars, the Flyers had gone on a 44-9 tear to lead 63-27 with 12 minutes left.

Cleveland Club Officially Sold

CLEVELAND (AP)—A new corporation known as the Cleveland Indians Baseball Co. yesterday received the Indians' franchise and other assets in completion of a $3,961,800 transaction.

William R. Daley, Cleveland financier, Ignatius A. O'Shaughnessy, St. Paul industrialist, and Hank Greenberg, Indians' general manager, are the principal new stockholders.

Daley is chairman of the new company, but all other officers retain their duties in the new corporation. They are Myron Wilson, president; Nate Dolin and George Medinger, vice presidents; Harry Small, treasurer, and Don Hornbeck, secretary.

Sokolsky's These Days

This year, there is an element of danger in abstention from voting for the Republicans, but this is not so much a matter of conscience as that many will believe that as Eisenhower cannot be defeated, they might as well play golf on Election Day.

I fear we pay too much attention to the Presidency and not enough to Congress which, in our political system, is more important. About one-third of the Senate and the whole of the House of Representatives will be elected in 1956 and the citizens really ought to give Congress a great deal of thought.

I find such Senators among Republicans as well as Democrats and from my standpoint what is wrong with them is that they sacrifice the best interests of the United States for what must be a temporary popularity. They are fashion-conscious Senators, who are now for Rock and Roll as they were for Swing and before that Jazz, to use a figure of speech. They switch and change for a headline in the newspapers. Such men exist in the public life of a free, competitive society at all times, but usually the people wise up to them and defeat them. 1956 is a good year for that.

Atlanta

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Booth of Chillicothe, were guests of Mr. S. Nellie Creighton and daughter Ellen.

Mrs. Paul R. Donohoe of Washington C. H., entertained with a surprise party, honoring Mr. Donohoe on his birthday. The evening was spent in visitation and music by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Mouser.

Mr. Donohoe received a number of gifts. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the hostess. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. George Donohoe and daughter Portia, Mr. and Mrs. Mouser and sons Jerry and Gregory of this community, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Donohoe and sons Roger and Robin and Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hatfield and daughter Sandra and Ricky and Gretchen Donohoe, all of Washington C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Duval and son Charles were among guests at the Golden Wedding anniversary party of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shasteen of Circleville. (Mrs. Shasteen is a sister of Mr. Duval).

Mrs. Vernon Benroth and son Michael of New Holland were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mont Drake.

Mrs. Charles McConkey, Mrs. Nellie Creighton and Miss Emma Hamilton attended the Home Council meeting at Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Armentrout and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Day and children spent a weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Walt Meggett of Bayview. Other dinner guests at the Meggett home were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Zimmerman and son Dale of Clyde. The occasion was Mr. Earl Armentrout's birthday.

Jack Armentrout of Clyde, spent the weekend in this community. He was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armentrout and son, Bobby and also was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kelly and children.

Salary Increases Asked For City Water, Sewage Employees

No Hikes Given Last 3 Years, Claim By Leist

Proposal Includes Reclassification Of Some Work Titles

Pay increases and job reclassifications of employees in the city water and sewage departments are now before council. A proposal including these provisions was read for the first time this week.

Salaries have not been "adjusted" in at least three years, according to public utilities manager Erv Leist. He added that both departments "have good men and we want to keep them."

Money for the proposed increases is to come out of the added revenue brought about by the hike in sewage rates which went into effect March 1, Leist explained.

Another type of pay increase proposal by Leist was turned down by the board of public utilities. This called for an incentive plan, with raises spread out over approximately a five-year period.

HERE IS the schedule finally approved by the three-man board and introduced into council earlier this week:

Division of Water
One distribution superintendent (formerly known as superintendent of maintenance)—present salary, $290 a month; proposed salary, $300 a month.

Two distribution maintenance men (formerly known only as maintenance men)—present salary, $245 a month each; proposed pay, $260 a month each.

One meter reader—maintenance man—present salary, $245 a month; proposed pay, $260 a month.

One resident pump station operator—present salary, $240 a month; proposed pay, $250 a month (he gets a house and the utilities free for living at the pump station).

One pump station operator—present pay, $265 a month; proposed salary, $275 a month (he lives in Circleville and drives to and from work).

One-half bookkeeper-cashier—present salary, $150 a month; proposed pay, $160 a month.

Division of Sewage
One chief operator-analyst (formerly operator in charge)—present pay, $280 a month plus $25 for routine duties as analyst; proposed salary, flat $325 a month.

Three operators (formerly one operator and two apprentices)—present salaries, $265 a month for the operator and $240 a month each for the two apprentices; proposed pay, $275 a month each.

One-half bookkeeper-cashier—present pay, $75 a month; proposed salary, $100 a month.

ALSO INCLUDED in the proposal is a provision for pay for extra labor. This is suggested at not less than $1.15 an hour and not more than $1.50 an hour.

Leist said the reclassification of job titles was only done to better describe the actual duties of the workers.

Woman Indicted In Poison Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Kaplan, 48, accused of putting ground glass in a neighbor's milk, was charged with attempted poisoning in an indictment returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Police quoted her as saying Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elgart were too noisy and she wanted to "teach them a lesson." A stomach disorder suffered by Elgart led to discovery of the glass.

Design For Airpower

(Editor's Note: This column furnished weekly, as a public service, by the Office of Information Services, Air Research and Development Command, U. S. Air Force.)

Merry-Go-Round With Twist

Riding a merry-go-round can be fun...but not at ARDC's Wright Air Development Center, near Dayton. Using a huge "human centrifuge," Air Force scientists try to find out what happens to the crews of fast-flying jets when they streak through turns, dives, and loops.

Strapped to a seat at the end of a 20-foot boom, volunteers are whirled around and around, up to some 35 times a minute, subjecting them to as much as seven "G's"—seven times the force of gravity. This means that a human guinea pig, normally 175 pounds, would weigh seven times that much or more than half a ton while spinning around at that speed. It's just like having lead in your veins.

The sensation is the same when an airman pulls out of a dive or goes into a steep turn at speeds near and beyond those of sound. His head feels like bursting...his vision blurs...his hands are too heavy to operate controls. As the "G" forces increase, the airman may black out completely, depending on how long he is exposed to the ordeal.

These conditions are duplicated in the "human centrifuge." Seated in the hub of the rotating boom, an observer watches closely as speeds and accelerations increase. Cameras take motion pictures of the test subject's facial expressions and clumsy attempts to operate various controls. Instruments record his pulse, blood pressure and similar data.

Out of these experiments came a special "anti-G" suit as well as other devices and techniques needed to keep human beings in control of their machines, no matter how fast they may twist and turn through the stratosphere.

Strictly For The Birds
Next Fall, the Air Force will help migrating birds on their southward trek by eliminating a hazard which has killed as many as 25,000 birds at one airport in a single night.

This hazard is a powerful vertical beam of light used at airports to check the height of clouds. Scientists believe that the beam either blinds the birds or blunts their sense of direction. But whatever the reason, many birds crash to the ground and are killed.

That is why the Air Force has instructed its bases to use filters which absorb all but ultraviolet light—enough to make the needed cloud measurements for mechanical birds and still insure flying safety for the live variety.

King-Size Six-Shooter

Newest and most advanced gun developed for the Air Force's latest jets is actually one of the oldest—the Gatling Gun of Civil War fame.

Named for its inventor, Dr. Richard J. Gatling, the original was a machine gun with six hand-cranked barrels.

It was first accepted by the Army in 1862 and saw action in the Civil War as well as in some later Indian campaigns.

The modern version is designed for 20 millimeter—more than three-fourths of an inch—shells, with six power-driven barrels. It can be fired at a far greater rate than present aircraft guns and for much longer periods without overheating and jamming.

Resurrected from the museum, grandpa's Gatling Gun has sprouted wings to add a deadly sting to modern air power.

Air Facts and Figures

Eight out of ten planes flown by the airlines of the world were manufactured in the United States....

The crew of a Strategic Air Command bomber has spent more than three months in the air during the last 12 months....

There is enough energy in a pound of uranium to fly an airplane non-stop around the world 100 times....

Miracle of the modern aerial camera—photographed from a jet, flying low at 500 miles an hour, cards in a poker hand laid out on an airport runway could be clearly identified.

Final Argument Due April 11 On Rail Rate Hike In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Both sides will present final arguments here April 11 on an application by the railroads asking for an increase in freight rates.

The state Utilities Commission Thursday set the date for closing briefs after listening to testimony during three days of public hearing.

The railroads want a general 6 per cent increase on freight hauled within Ohio. Opponents contend the increase would be unfair and force higher prices for consumers of utility companies.

Most of the opposition to the rate increases come from coal mine interests, represented by the Ohio Coal Assn., and utility companies, large users of coal.

They claim freight rates on coal already are too high. Further increases, they said, could see more and more coal shipped via lake carriers and trucks.

The increase, opponents contend, could result in the railroads pricing themselves out of competition.

The railroads said they plan to buy new equipment to improve operations. They said they can't unless higher rates are charged.

Increased costs of wages and other operating expenses make the rate increase necessary, the railroads argue.

The Ohio carriers already have lost a first round battle. The commission, on March 7, denied the railroads an immediate 6 per cent increase. The railroads originally filed for a flat 7 per cent increase but changed this to 6 per cent in a supplemental petition filed March 5.

The Toledo Edison Co. and the Ohio Power Co. are leading the fight against the increase.

A key witness for the coal interests Thursday was George A. Lamb, manager of business surveys for the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co.

Lamb said a study showed railroad freight traffic would be up 5 per cent over last year. He said the Ohio carriers, without a rate increase, "will realize a better return in 1956 than they figured they needed to offset their increased costs since Oct. 1, 1955."

Earlier this month, the nation's railroads were granted permission to boost by 6 per cent the rates they charge for most freight hauled across state lines.

Telephone Firm Names Officers

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—The board of directors of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. yesterday elected Clare E. Williams of Mansfield president and Richard N. Cole of Portsmouth, vice president. Williams also is president of the General Telephone Co.

Others elected: Herbert J. Vrooman, secretary treasurer; Leonard V. Snodgrass, formerly of Circleville, assistant secretary treasurer.

Consolidated Telephone, with administrative offices in Cadiz, Cambridge, Circleville, St. Marys, Wilmington and Portsmouth, serves more than 55,000 clients.

Crying Girl, Pup Brought Together

OMAHA (AP)—In Omaha a little girl cried herself to sleep because her pup had been shot. A hundred and 20 miles away a lost pup shivered on a bed of rags in a filling station.

At the Winterset, Iowa, station Omaha trucker Larry W. Davis and other over-the-road haulers watched the pup and listened to a radio report of the heartbreak of Cathy Katzenberger, 6.

"We decided the little girl needed the pup and the pup needed her. We took a straw vote and I was elected to bring them together. It sure was worth it," said Clark after making the delivery.

Eulogy To Bromfield Read By Pastor

MANSFIELD (AP)—Funeral services were held here yesterday for Louis Bromfield, Pulitzer Prize winning author. Bromfield, 59, died Sunday in Columbus after a brief illness.

Approximately 500 persons filled the First Congregational Church of Mansfield for the services.

The Rev. Matthew Madden, pastor of the church, said of Bromfield, whose famous Malabar Farm is located near here:

"At heart, he was a humble, simple man who found his richest reward in his home and in communing with the visible forms of nature."

Massillon Slayer Slated For Tests

CANTON (AP)—Judge Paul G. Weber yesterday ordered Nicholas M. Kostic of Massillon sent to the Lima State Hospital for 30 days observation.

Kostic, a 38-year-old steel worker, pleaded innocent by reason of insanity to first degree murder charges in the slaying of his estranged wife and her physician. Police said jealousy was the motive for the shooting of Mrs. Mary Kostic, 34, and Dr. Henry Paxton Hart, 72.

World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

Republicans can sit back at this moment in the presidential campaign, smile happily at the Democrats, and say: "We have President Eisenhower. What have you got?"

What the Democrats have is confusion. Ahead is more of the same.

They don't know who their candidate will be; except for the farm problem, the campaign issues are pretty thin; and they don't know, because of the Southern Democrats' angry mood, whether they can keep their party intact.

Until Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee beat him this week in the Minnesota presidential primary, Adlai Stevenson had the inside track for the party's nomination at next August's convention. Maybe he can make a comeback in other primaries.

But even if Kefauver sweeps them all, proving himself a miracle vote-getter, the convention may turn him down. He's never been a favorite of the big city bosses or the Southern Democrats.

The Democrats can't even feel sure they'll come out of the convention with a whole party. A Southern revolt would just about wreck any chance the party has in 1956.

A revolt may come unless the Southerners can dictate the platform plank on civil rights and even the tone of the party's candidate through an ever-present threat to turn against him after the convention.

Yet a Democratic candidate who remained tongue-tied on civil rights through fear of losing the Southern vote would, to the rest of the country, be a recognizably weak candidate.

As a sign of trouble ahead, South Carolina Democrats called on all Southern Democrats this week to take a strong stand on states' rights at the convention. They urged all Southern states' Democratic parties to arrange to meet after the convention if they're not satisfied with what happens there. This is a neat nudge to all Democrats outside the South.

The Democrats can't forget that Virginia, Texas, Florida and Tennessee went for Eisenhower in 1952 and may do so again this year no matter what happens at the convention.

But the Democrats have other troubles: except for falling farm income, the other issues in the campaign as they outline them don't have much emotional heat.

The Republicans will make the most of the country's prosperity and peace. The Democrats may warn of the danger of war but as long as this country isn't involved in one by election day, the warnings may sound hollow.

Even organized labor—at a time when employment is at a peak—sounds quieter than in 1948 and 1952 when the unions made the Taft-Hartley Act, passed by a Republican-run Congress in 1947, a big issue.

Kefauver advocates outright repeal of that act. The man who gets the nomination may do the same. But the Democrats have had control of Congress five of the nine years since then and haven't repealed it.

With Eisenhower running again, the Republicans appear to have a clear edge on the Democrats.

But even with him heading the ticket they can't be completely sure of winning. In the Minnesota primary Democratic votes far outnumbered the Republicans'. What does that mean? The Republicans can't say they have the answer.

It may indicate such widespread discontent among farmers with Eisenhower's policies affecting them that the Republicans will lose the farm states. If that happens, and the Democrats manage to stay together, their chances go up.

Pickaway County Farmers

The Pickaway County Implement Dealers Association take this opportunity to thank you for your past patronage. It has been a privilege to serve you. Your interest in the use of our machines and service has helped to improve the agricultural status of our county. A recent survey of the current business conditions in a five county area, including Pickaway County, has just been made to seek ways of improving our ability to serve you better. One of our outstanding obstacles is the mounting Accounts Receivable in every dealership. Over a million dollars is outstanding in the area surveyed. On the other hand our manufacturers require cash settlements. Our payrolls must be made on a weekly (or monthly) basis. To avoid further handicaps in this instance and to allow us to stay in business and serve you properly, the following policy will be in effect:

After April 1, 1956 All Parts and Service Cash Only

Power Steering Is Yours TODAY
in a Great Fleet of JOHN DEERE TRACTORS

It's the success story of the tractor industry! Two years ago, John Deere introduced factory-engineered Power Steering on row-crop tractors. No other single tractor feature ever received such widespread and enthusiastic acceptance. Here was unsurpassed ease of handling that meant new freedom at the wheel on every tractor job. Now—John Deere offers you Advanced Power Steering for Models "50," "60," "70," and "80" Tractors—steering that is even smoother and more positive in its operation...even more quickly responsive to your command. Ask us for a free demonstration of a John Deere Tractor with Advanced Power Steering soon.
